Management Discussion of the Performance of the CWB Onyx Balanced Solution

Results of Operations

In the first six months of 2021 (the “period”), the CWB Onyx Balanced Solution’s (the “Fund”) net assets increased by $1,681,418 to $34,122,522. This reflects an increase of $1,855,566 from investment performance, net withdrawals of $73,682, and distributions to unitholders of $100,466.

Series A units of the Fund returned 5.67% over the period versus the Fund’s internal benchmark (the “Fund Benchmark”), which returned 6.50%. The Fund Benchmark is a combination of the FTSE Canada Universe Bond Index¹, the S&P/TSX Total Return (“TR”) Composite Index², the S&P 500 TR Index $CAD³ and the MSCI All Country World Index ex-USA $CAD⁴. The Fund’s general market index benchmarks, the FTSE Canada Universe Bond Index and the S&P/TSX TR Composite Index (the “Broad-Based Benchmarks”), returned -3.46% and 17.28% respectively, over the period. Unlike the Fund Benchmark and the Broad-Based Benchmarks, the Fund’s return is calculated after the deduction of fees and expenses. Returns for Series O unitholders of the Fund may vary, largely due to differences in fees and expenses.

Despite significant headwinds, the global economy and financial markets continued to recover in the first half of 2021. Significant government and central bank stimulus helped to support current economic activity. Vaccination programs against COVID-19 that had just begun at the end of 2020 gathered pace which helped to build confidence in a gradual economic recovery. By the end of the period, vaccination rates were high enough for many global economies to begin relaxing COVID-19 driven restrictions on activities such as travelling, social distancing and in-door restaurant dining. The U.S. led the way on the recovery with two consecutive quarters of greater than 6% growth.

After strong returns in 2020, fixed income investments posted negative returns during the period. As confidence in the economic recovery gained traction, investors traded out of the relative safety of fixed income for riskier, higher-returning assets such as equities. The Canadian bond benchmark (FTSE Canada Universe Bond Index) returned -3.46% in the first half of 2021. The fixed income portion of the portfolio provided higher returns than the benchmark.

Global equity markets performed well during the period. Equity indices in developed markets such as Canada, Europe and the U.S. largely generated double-digit percentage returns in local currency. Although emerging markets tended to lag behind developed markets, returns were also broadly positive. The performance of the equity market appeared to somewhat mirror COVID-19 vaccination trends with developed markets achieving higher rates of vaccination in a quicker time frame than emerging markets. Economically sensitive segments of the market (such as energy and financials) performed well to start the year while less sensitive sectors (such as information technology) provided stronger returns towards the end of the period. The equity holdings within the Fund are weighted toward more economically sensitive areas resulting in the equity holdings negatively impacting performance of the Fund relative to the benchmark during the period.

The Fund started 2021 with approximately 4% overweight in equities and a 4% underweight in fixed income, which our belief that government and central bank stimulus would be sufficient to bridge the global economy through the period of COVID-19 restrictions and into a prolonged period of economic growth. With interest rates at extremely low levels, the risk of higher rates in a recovering economy made equities an attractive investment compared to fixed income. As the period progressed, equities continued to outperform fixed income leading to

² The S&P/TSX Composite TR Index is a broad based stock market index of the largest Canadian firms listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange, including dividends in the calculation of returns.

³ The S&P 500 Composite TR Index $CAD is an index tracking trading prices of the shares of the 500 top U.S. companies, including dividends in the calculation of returns, converted to Canadian Dollars.

⁴ The MSCI All Country World Index ex-USA is an index of the trading prices of the shares of companies across developed and emerging markets worldwide, excluding the U.S. – See back for full disclosure approximately a 6% equity overweight at the end of the period. The Funds equity overweight was a positive contributor to returns relative to the Funds benchmark.

Recent Developments

Global growth in early 2021 accelerated further due to a number of positive factors including vaccination campaigns, additional fiscal stimulus and reduced COVID-19 related restrictions all leading to improved economic activity. This was evidenced by strong global economic indicators and corporate profits with earnings beating expectations at a record pace. Despite this strength, investors appear to be focused on issues like increasing inflation and whether growth may be peaking. The consensus view of economists is that the near term inflation uptick will likely prove to be somewhat temporary. We agree with the consensus view and anticipate strong economic growth through the remainder of 2021, which supports a continued overweight in equities.

¹ This information is derived from the Fund's unaudited interim or audited annual financial statements (as applicable). All figures presented are prepared in accordance with IFRS, which requires the Fund to measure the fair value of its investments based on close market prices, where the close market price falls within the bid-ask spread, which is consistent with the method used in measuring the net asset value for transactions with unitholders.

² Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase (decrease) from operations is based on the weighted average number of units outstanding over the financial period.

³ Distributions were paid in cash, reinvested in additional units of the Fund or both.

³ The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.

⁴ The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio adviser manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher a Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a Fund.

* Data reported represents results from February 10, 2016 to December 31, 2016.

Management Fees

The Fund pays CWB WM an annual management fee of 1.70% of the net asset value of Series A units of the Fund. The management fee for each applicable series is calculated and accrued daily as a percentage of its NAV.

The Fund's management fees were used by CWB WM to pay for the cost of managing the investment portfolio, providing investment analysis and recommendations, making investment decisions, making brokerage arrangements for the purchase and sales of investment portfolio, providing other services, and compensating CWB WM for acting as the trustee of the Fund. CWB WM also used the management fee to Fund trailing commissions and any other compensation to CWF whose clients invest in the Fund. A further breakdown of the management fee is not available for the interim period.
